How It All Began...

THE GOAL

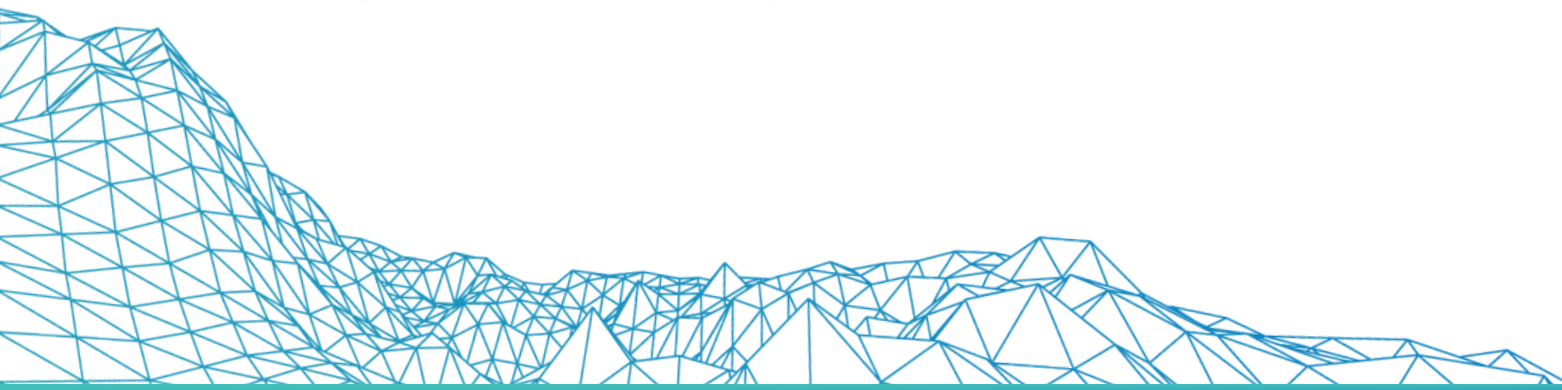

Georgia's Innovation and Technology Agency (GITA) with support from the World Bank, implemented the Georgia National Innovation Ecosystem (GENIE) Project, which aimed to increase the innovative activities of entities and individuals and their participation in the digital economy of Georgia.

How It All Began...

MARKET RESEARCH

Georgian ICT labor market analysis conducted in 2017-2018 demonstrated that the ICT workforce was not sufficiently qualified to meet national and international market requirements and the GENIE project decided to implement a collaborative skills strategy to improve the digital skills of Georgian professionals in line with the economic and digital strategies of the country.

Start of Project - ICT Trainings for 3000 Georgian Citizens

SOLUTION

ICT training program in the scope of the GENIE project has started with pilot phase on November, 2020 aiming to train at least 500 IT specialists and was followed by larger scale phases aiming to train at least 2,500 IT specialists. Overall, the whole program aimed to train at least 3,000 participants by May of 2023.

Project Delivery

CHOOSING RELIABLE PROVIDERS

To facilitate and deliver online training and international exams in ICT and Non-ICT domains for Georgian citizens, GITA, based on the international selection process, has invited the globally acknowledged IT Training Center – New Horizons, Space Cad, and Tbilisi Communication School. With the help of the Consultant's experienced team, students learned the necessary technical and professional skills to succeed in technology positions across industries, while also preparing for specific certifications.
